

Please help keep cell phone usage out of airplanes. As a frequent flyer, and a user of cell phones, I appreciate the relative quiet on board planes as a time to accomplish work that is increasingly difficult to accomplish elsewhere. With the close quarters on board flights, compounded by the already high noise level that is a part of commercial flights, scores of people talking loudly on their phones would add to the discomfort levels we all experience. Please do not make a relatively uncomfortable flying experience even more uncomfortable by adding phone use to the list of noisemakers on board.
